Special Cablegram to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, March 9.—Lord Randolph Churchil is in open revolt against the Government. He writes to the Times threatening his old coleagues with a long and heavy fight at every tage of the naval proposals. I learn on ex-cellent private authority that the revolt is not confined to naval matters. He would never cheme unless reconciled to the defeat of the says openly to his private friends that Balfourism is fatal to unionism, and it is better to turn them out. The Government posi-tion is imperilled. Churchill's following in the House is not large, but still he has the ear of the Tory Democrats of the country. His opposition, reinforcing the Liberals and expressed at public meetings, will make the fory town members tremble. The opposition ilso continues a remorseless catechism of the Ministers about their compileity in the Times flicers of the Irish Administration have been acting for the Times as detectives and collect Anti-European Riets in China.

San Francisco, March 9.—The steamship Beigis, which arrived here this morning from Hongkong and Yokahoma, brings the first detailed advices of the recent anti-European riots at Chinkiang. Chinkiang is a rain. It has had many vicissitudes from the time when the first foreign residents lived in junks on the north shore of the Yanktze. By and by a concession was laid out, houses were built, and the north shore abandoned, much of the land there being washed away by the river. Gradually it became a through community, with the beilef that it would become the terminus of the Pekin Railway and would supplant Shanghai. Trouble began, it is claimed, in a street row, in which a Chinaman was knocked down by a policeman. This excited the mob and their first act was to destroy the police station. Then they made for the British Consulate, where a Chinese Inspector, who has not since been seen, is believed to have taken refuge. On the way they fired three foreign houses. The Chinese General in command sent 300 men to protect the consulate. As soon as the mob appeared the soldiers capitulated. Some field, and the rest joined the mob. The Consul's wife fled barefoot, with her children, from the back door of the Consulate, while the mob, aided by the soldiers, sacked and burned everything. The missionaries and a chapel nearly shared the same fate, while the British Consul himself was twice in imminent danger of death. The American Consulate was looted and more houses burned. The residents took refuge on hulks and the mob tried to follow them, but the connecting bridges were raised. The Viceroy telegraphed the British Consul that he was sending 2,000 soldiers to restore order.

The riot broke out again on Wednesday afternoon. When Gen. Kennedy reached Chinkiang, he had the American fing raised at the United States consulate. The Fritish ship Mutine arrived on Thursday and fired a salute to the British fag. Within five minutes after the firing of the first gun the Chinese had fled in all directions. LAWRENCE, Mass., March 9.—A sequel to the Pacific Guano Co.'s failure was brought to light yesterday during the investigation of the affairs of John W. Smith, who was dragged down by the company. Nine men of more or less means find themselves obliged to pay $80,000 in settlement of a transaction with Mr. Smith's father more than ten years ago. At that time, when various savings banks throughout the country suffered severe embarrassment on account of the sudden depreciation in the value of mortraged depreciation in the value of mortgaged property, the Broadway Savings Bank of this property, the Broadway Savings Bank of this city, being then in its infancy, became so badly involved that it was in danger of bank-ruptcy, and but for the timely aid of John Smith of Andover would have been swept out of existence. Mr. Smith was interested in the welfare of the bank, being at the time a trustee, and generously advanced the sum of $100,000, taking the bonds of several citizens who were also trustees, to the amount of $80,000 as security. This helped the corporation to pull through, and it has continued doing business up to the present time. The money has never been refunded. On Mr Smith's death his son, J. W. Smith, one of the members of the firm of Glidden & Curris, which was largely involved in the failure of the Pacific Guano Co., recently came into the estate, and new his assignees, in making up the assets of the firm, having come across this loan, immediately made a demand on the signers of the bonds for the amount to which they had made themselves liable.

The following is a list of the men and the amounts for which they are held responsible: Peter Smith, $10,000; J. W. Smith and A. W. Stearns, $12,500 each; John Falion, $10,000; Peter Hollian, J. Pillsbury, Thos. Scott, Maurice Knowless and J. A. Treat, $5,000 each; Of the Savings Bank says that the demand will in no way affect the standing of the bank as it was a private business transaction between persons interested in the welfare of the bank, and not as members of the corporation.

M. WHALDN, the President of the St.

His room at the Southern Hotel has been frequently visited by persons having interest in the mines and who are anxious to be informed as to the true status of the properties.

Mr. Whalen was asked by a reporter of the Properties.

Mr. Whalen was asked by a reporter of the Properties.

Mr. Whalen was asked by a reporter of the Properties.

Mr. Whalen was asked by a reporter of the Post-Disfatch how it happened that there were 100 tons of concentrates kept at the mine, and no shipment contemplated until the 15th of the present month. He had said that there never had been a shipment, and in consequence the true value of the product has never been accurately learned.

Some mining country. On my representations and facts I placed with them $50,000 worth of social with the money £12,000. I could place all the shares in England for the company, if I wanted to do so, but I wish to dispose of the remainder of the shares over this country so our people may have the beneath of the same. I also have another object in view: It will advertise the mining interests of Nevada, the richest State in the world for large mines—gold, sliver and copper. The mines—gol at the bottom. The metal is taken out wet and there is more or less sediment in it. It was placed in bags wet at our mines as we didn't have a builton-house in which to dry it and while in the bags it froze. We had to take it out of the bags and break it with a sledge just as you might granite, because the smelters won't take the concentrate except it is a dry powder. When we have dried it the concentrate will be shipped."

The above lucid description of the separation process will be read with interest by mining men.

Some specimens of Mr. Whalen's prospectus ability were printed in the Post-Disparch gyesterday. His reputation as an author of mining stock advertisements should, how invested $2,000 in the Copper stock and received four monthly dividends of 50 cents per share on his investment. About the time the fifth dividend was declared Dr. Kier became convinced that his money was not safe. He met Whalen in the Olympic Drug-store, where the office of the company was at that time, and demanded a return of his money. Whalen demurred a little, but consented at length.

The doctor also demanded the fifth dividend. The promoter of the scheme was a little astonished, but, seing considerable determination back of the demand, consented to that also. The amount of the dector's original investment and the fifth dividend was paid him. So he came out of the deal $250 better off than at the beginning.

Ashland, Wis., March 2.—Interior Department Agents allen and Roberts have been on the Fond du Lac, Bad River and other reservations investigating alleged timber frauds, and have gone to Flambean Reservation to finish their work. They expect to finish the investigation to-day, and will return to Washington next week to make their report. A most diligent inquiry has been made into matters regarding which information was desired by the Secretary of the Interior. Mr. Allen told several Ashland loggers that his visits to the reservations had developed nothing whatever to substantiate the charges which they were detailed to investigate.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Besides its peculiar purifying effect upon the blood, has a specific action upon the secretions and excretions, and assists nature to exper from the system all humors, impure particles and effects matter through the lungs, liver, bowels, hidneys and skin. It effect-ually aids weak, impaired and debilitated organs, invigorates the nervous system, tones the digestion and imparts new life and energy to all functions of the body.

RAILROAD NEWS. Jay Gould and Party Start for

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Jay Gould's private ear will be attached to the fast express which leaves Jersey City over the Pennsylvania Railroad this morning, and the Wall street magnate will be whisked away on an extended tour, taking in all the territory covered by the roads in his Southwestern system. The annual stockholders' meeting of the Misseuri Pacific will be held in St. Louis on Wednesday, and Mr. Gould will first visit that city and attend the meeting. He will be accompanied by his physician, Br. Munn, his son George and daughter, Miss Helen, and also by Samuel Sloan, President of the Detaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad Co., and Henry Marquand.

JAY GOULD STARTS,

16 a. m.—Jay Gould's party started West this morning on the fast service train, which leaves the Pennsylvania depoi in Jersey City at 9:18. They occupied Mr. Gould's private oar atlanta, which will be taken through to St. Louis and then on a grand Southern tour.

It is true economy to buy Hood's Barssparilla, for "100 Doses one Dollar" is original with and true only of this popular medicine. If you wish to prove this, buy a bottle of Hood's Sarssparilla and measure its contents. You will find it to hold 100 teaspoonfule. Now read the directions, and you will find that the average dose is less than a teaspoonful. This is certainly conclusive svidence of the peculiar strength and economy of Hood's Sarssparilla.

yesterday. As the story was told, Miss Margaret Harrigan, 21 years old, poured a gallon of coal oil over herself and then set fire to her clothing with a match. She fought her sister, Mrs. Weber, with whom she was staying, when the latter tried to save her, and was not captured until the flames had fairly roasted her flosh.

She was said to have left a note telling her relatives that she had been ruined and wanted to atone for her sin.

Chief of Police Walsh of East St. Louis said this morning that so far as he had been able to learn there was no case of the sort anywhere in the vicinity of East St. Louis and he believed the story to be wholly untrue. Numerous stories have appeared from the same source lately, he said, none of them containing a grain of truth.

Coroner Woods of St. Clair County said there was no truth whatever in the story.

Reports submitted by the Treasurer and Secretary were very senourage. Louisa Bertrand, the young widow, whom her lover, Charles a temporary attack of mental prostration on account of his perfidy, has recovered. She was resting easily at her home, 4018 No. North Twenty-third Reports submitted by the Treasurer and Secretary were very encouraging, and so well pleased were the interested parties with the manner in which the Board of Directors have managed the property and the income derived from the investment, it was immediately suggested to organize another syndicate and put up another structure of the same character as the Commercial.

One of the directors was seen with regard to this proposed improvement and asked where they intended building.

That he said was a business secret which it would not do to divulge at present. He would not say where it was proposed to buy a site, or whether nogotiations had been opened for the purchase of ground to build upon. It had been given out that the next building that the syndicate put up would be fourteen stories high, but this statement the director contradicted, or corrected with the statement that the proposed building would be only twelve stories high.

It is more than probable though that the owners of the Commercial building, who are other St. Louis enterprise of the same character, as it is generally known that they not such as they are realizing from $30,000 to $40,000 net upon their present investment. They only pay about $22,000a year ground rent under a ninetynine-year lease of the ground they have built on, and it is said that they managed the undertaking with such financial ability that it required $20,000 or less of their own money to complete the house which is now paying them such a handsome income for the venture they made in St. Louis realty. and Seventh, and Mrs. Bertrand was employed by him as a clerk.

It is generally expected by those interested in the workings of the Vulcan steel plant that by the latter part of the month the rail and blooming department of the mill will resume business. Rumors to that extent were current this morning, but nothing definite was heard of.

The buggy-washing contest between Nick Hemm and Jack Pourcelly for $5 a side took place at 10 o'clock this morning at hoffmeister's livery stable. A number of buggies heavily besmeared with mud stood outside and at the word go both men were to run in a buggy and clean it. The agreement was to see who could wash the most buggles within an hour. Mr. Dickson was referee and Max Hoffmeister and P. Cummings acted as seconds. The contest was watched only by a few outsiders. It was a sight worth while seeing, and the movements of the men were watched with much interest. At 11 o'clock, just one hour after the word "go' was received, Pourcelly was declared the winner, he having washed four buggles to Henm's three. Hemm immediately challenged Pourcelly to another contest, which will probably take place later on in the month.

By Telegraph to the Post-Disparch. New York, March 9.—Chauncey F. Black, peratic Clubs, has issued a request to the

with all honor the birthday of Thomas Jefferson on April I. He says:

"The birthday of Thomas Jefferson was an event of importance, not only to Americans but to mankind. His influence in the severance of the colonies from the crown of England and in the formation of the institutions under which we now live was more decisive as well as more judicious than that of any other in the whole line of American patriots and statesmen. The author of the Declaration of Independence and the founder of the Democratic party, it is to his jesious vigilance that we owe the first ten amendments to the Constitution of the United States. But for the authority of his venerated name and the pure recombinate principles enunciated by him and illustrated in his administration of the government, and in administrations of his succeeding disciples, the constitution of 1787 would long since have been administered away."

A blind man has to depend a great deal upon the honesty manity, and it is to humanthe honesty thankly, and it is not often betrayed. T was a case of this sort of rascality, how ..., in the city some time ago and the ran i was happily rebuked. There used to be i young blind man who sold cigars at a little stand on Winter street or thereabouts. Ordinarily the sales were of single cigars or small packages of cigarettes, and the dealer being expert in the handling of coins had no difficulty in making change. Sometimes paper money would be given him, and then the blind man had to trust the honor of his patrons not to give him counterfeits. One day a man came to him who wanted to buy a lot of cigars, and offered a $5 note in payment. The bill proved to be counterfeit. Some time afterwards the swindler, feeling secure in the inability of the dealer to identify him, came back to the blind man's stand and bought a cigar.

"I should think," he said nonchalantly to the dealer, "that you'd sometimes have counterfeit money passed on you."

"Oh, no," said the dealer, "nobody would impose on a poor blind man like me."

"So?" said the sharper. His victim had thrown him off his guard. "Evidently," be thought, fishe blind man succeeded in passing the bill, and nobody discovered that it was bad till it got into the third or fourth man's hands. So here's a chance to get him again."

"Of course," said the sharper again, aloud, "nobody would come such a game on you. By the way, I got a lot of cigars of you a while ago that were good. Got any more of the same sort?"

"Yes, sir"

"All right. I'll take another five dollars' worth."

The blind man got up like a flash and seized him by the arms.

"So you're the man that passed the counterfeit $5 bill on me, are you?" he exclaimed.

"Help! the!!"

There was a crowd on the street, and the blind man had plenty of help to secure the swindler, who was promptly marched off to the station, where quite a supply of counterfeit money was found on his person. tty's credit to confidence is not often betrayed. To was a case of this sort of ras-

Washington News. By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH. WASHINGTON, D. C., March 9.—The general public now seems disposed to give the Presiofficial business, and as a consequence there were not so many visitors at the White House this morning. There were enough, however, to keep the East Room comfortably filled during the entire time the house was open. The politicians turned out in 'full force. They were received in the President's office and occupied his attention from 9:30 to 13:30 'clock, at which time the President excused himself to all callers for the purpose of consulting with his Cabinet on matters requiring prompt action. The session lasted two hours. All the members were present. Among those who saw the President during the forenoon were Senators Plumb, Teller, Dollph, Wolcott, Sherman, Manderson, Paddock, Allison, Hoar, ex-Senatof Palmer, ex-Senator Sewell and trients, Gen. Longstreet, Senator Hampton, with Assistant Secretary Thompson, Mr. John A. King of New York, Delegate Duboise with an Idaho delegation, Representatives Dingley, Caswell, Wickham, Finley, Thompson, Steele. Conger. Morse, McKinley, Butterworth, Wilson and Farquhar.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 9.—Congress-man R. W. Townshend, for many years rep-(Shawneetown) District, died at the Riggs House in this city at about noon to-day. The disease which caused his death was pneumonia, contracted during the closing hours of the last Congress. In his last lilness Mr. Townshend was attended by his brother, who is Health Officer in the District of Columbia. Mrs. Townshend and the two children of the deceased were in attendance at the death-bed. The details of the funeral have not yet been decided upon, but it is thought that the remains will be interred in the Congressional Cemetery, where his mother is buried.

The news of the death of Representative Townshend reached the Capitol shortly after his decease, and the Sergeant-at-Arms immediately proceeded to the Riggs House to assist in making arrangements for the funeral. The flags on the Senate and House wings were displayed at half-mast out of respect to the memory of the deceased. The death of Mr. Townshend caused a general feeling of sorrow among those members-elect of the next House who have been associated with him during his long service in the House and among the officials and others who knew him well, Mr. Townshend was a page in the House in the early part of his life, and went to lilinois, whose district he afterward represented in the House.

Gladstone's Favorite Tipple.

From the Pall Mall Gazette.

Mr. Gladstone lives a very regular life at home. He breakfasts lightly about 7 o'clock in the morning, and shortly before 8 walks to the church for prayers. Upon his return from morning prayers Mr. Gladstone retires to his study, where he peruses and answers his enormous mass of daily correspondence. Luncheon at the castle is conducted in a homely manner. The "lunch is on the hob" at Hawarden Castle for an hour or two during the day, and is partaken of by those at home at various times. In the afternoon Mr. Gladstone takes a walk in the grounds. Mr. Gladstone dines at 8 o'clock. Mr. Gladstone retires early, and shortly after 10 o'clock his day's labors are over. Mr. Gladstone relires early, and shortly after 10 o'clock his bitter beer with his luncheon. A glass or two of claret at dinner, and sometimes a glass of port, that nectar of orators, satisfy his very moderate requirements for atimulant. Mr. Gladstone, like Gen. Ignatieff, has never smoked. He belongs to the older school, which acquired its habits at a time when tobacco amoking was regarded as somewhat vulgar. Hence neither pipe, cigar not cigarette is ever to be seen between his lips. But Mr. Gladstone is by no means ascetic, he is a generous liver, and is a great believer in the virtues of a glass of good port wine. When speaking his fillip is a compound of sherry and egg., which is carefully prepared by Mrs. Gladstone, who attends to its manufacture with as much anxiety as if it were the elixir of life. One, or at the outside two, draughts of this mystical preparation suffice to carry Mr. Gladstone through the longest speech, therein affording a great contrast to the method of Prince Blamarck, who on the last occasion when he made a speech in the Reichstag was supplied with nips of brandy and water by his son and his secretary every five minutes.

HOW I SUFFERED

Washington, D. C., March 9.—At 2 o'clock both Republican and Democratic caucus committees to arrange the Senate standing and special committees for the Fifty-first Congress were still in session, their work not having been completed. The most important chairmanships to be filled are those of Manufactures and Railroads. Messrs. Quay and Mitchell, respectively, are in line for these and will probably be assigned to them. The arrangements of committees has proven to be a more difficult task than was expected, notwithstanding the comparatively few vacancies that exist.

At the age of three months a rash (which afterwards proved to be eczems or salt rheum) made its appearance on my face. A physician was called. He said teething was the cause; he prescribed some cooling medicine, but the sores spread to my ears and head. Another M. D. was called. He professed to know all about the case, called it "King's Evil," and prescribed gunpowder, brimstone and lard mixed into a saive; but the disease continued. They could not do anything with it. Another prescribed sorax, water and four; another linseed poultices. None of them did me any good at all, but made me worse. The disease continued unabated; it spread to my arms Justice Matthews' Condition.

Washington, D. C., March 9.—Dr. Johnston said this afternoon that the condition of Justice Matthews was much improved to-day. He rested well last night and is rapidly regaining strength.

The disease continued unabated; it spread to my arms and legs, till I was laid up entirely, and from continually string on the floor on a pillow my limbs contracted so that I lost all control of them, and was utterly helpless. My mother would have to lift me out and into bed. I could get around the hose on my hands and feet, but loculd not get my clothes on at all, and had to wear a sort of dressing gown. My hard and instead down or fallen off, and my head, face and ears were one scale; and I had to have a towel on my head all the time in the summer to keep the files off. My parents consulted a prominent physician and surgeon here in Chicago (the other physician before mentioned were of Dundas and Hamlton, Canada). He said-he could do nothing for me. HIGH LICENSE

They have the high-license system in Boston, subject to adjustment by the Police Board. Last year the license fee ranged from $1,000 for down town hotels and $600 for other hotels, down to $400 for barrooms, $200 for common victualers and $150 for grocers and bottlers. It worked well, and this year the Police Board will try the experiment of reducing the number of licenses from 2,600 to 790, exclusive of druggists' and club licenses, and raising the two classes of hotel licenses to $1,500 and $1,200 respectively, bar-room license to $1,000, common victualers' and bottlers' license to $500 and grocers' license to $300, wholesalers, distillers and brewers paying the same as the bar-rooms.

If this does not work well the Police Board can change it next year. The board can thus feel its way to the highest license the traffic will bear, and to the most stringent regulation that is enforcible. But if the Missouri Legislature imposes upon St. Louis a castiron system of licenses at a minimum of $3,000 without regard for ever for striking off the names. They were the wishes of the local population, and with out knowing how such an experiment, hitherto untried in any large American city, will operate, it will certainly be two and may be four years before it can be amended, no matter how much of a failure and a nuisance it may turn out to be. If we are to be subjected to feelers for finding out just how near an approach to total prohibition is practically enforcible, the experimental process will be very tedious under this law. If it operate merely as a political twitch, or prove a failure and fill the city with blind tiger drinking places, St. Louis will have to bear the loss, of revenue and the other consequences for at least two years, and may even have to work a wait for a Republican Legislature to give her relief. THE readers of the SUNDAY POST-DIS-PATCH can put their expectations on a high peg for to-morrow without fear of disappointment. Over a dozen citizens of one precinct of the Nineteenth Ward were stricken from the lists, although they lived at the places named. Among the number was Ed Michel, who was stricken off from 226 Walnut street, whore he had lived all his life.

In Precinct Seventy-eight fourteen voters who were stricken off the lists by revisors were found to be living at the addresses called for, notwithstanding that the revisors did not find them.

In most of the cases there was no reason what old citizens who had resided for years at the numbers from which they were registered. In many cases they were the proprietors of the premises. They had registered regularly and liscussed politics for months before the 6th of November, when they discovered that they had no voice in the questions of government to be decided on that day. The feelings of a citizen who has talked politics among his neigh bors throughout the whole campaign and on election day, in the presence of those very same neighbors, is denied the right to vote like a repeater or "straw man," can only be appreciated by one who has had that humiliating experience.

matter, Secretary Hastings of the Edison Electric Light Co, said:

"We brought suit in Canada against infringers of our Canadian patents. The ease was tried before the Commissioner of Agriculture, Richard Pope, who in Canada is also Commissioner of Patents. The defendants alleged that under a technicality of the Canadian patent law the patent in question had been invalidated by the importation of the article in question. The result has not been announced officially as yet, and the only information which we have is that which appeared in the papers. In any event, the question is purely a local one, and does not even contemplate the question of right or priority of invention. The suit has been going on for several months and is identical with the Bell Telephone case, having nothing to do with patent rights. We do not know what action we shall take until we receive official notice. The case was taken out of the courts by the defendants in order to produce evidence before the Commissioner of Patents in regard to the alleged violation by our Canadian agents of the technicalities in the law to which I have alluded."

There was no reason why anybody should assume his name at that time, as he was obscure and unknown. WHY THE PRESIDENTS' AGREEMENT WILL BE RELIGIOUSLY ADHERED TO

An Old Bailroad Director's Account of Former Pools and Why They Failed— Short Lines and Their Dangers—Use of ankrupt Roads to Ruin a Eival-The

HERE is a great deal of anxiety among the railroad men concerning agreement," said Matthew W. John ston of Toledo, O., tormerly a Director of the Wabash and stockholder in the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, who is at the Southern "and a general fear that it will not be kept. Instances of similar pools—for the agreement is nothing more nor less than a grand pool—are cited, and the invariable failure to keep the pledges made by the officers quoted as an indication of what will be the fate of the present arrangement.

"But the conditions at present are very different from what they ever were before, and laid down are far brighter than any previous her of short roads with managements inde pendent of the great trunk lines, and the trouble in regard to rate-cutting nearly always arose with those. Their stockholders other roads, and it might be for their advant age to make a cut on the shorter line which would hurt a rival to the great trunk line. Few people run some years ago understand how success fully this plan used to be worked. Men would work to throw it into bankruptey. This would affect most seriously some rival road as there is no rivairy so fatal as that of a road in the hands of a receiver. In this way the Eric most seriously crippled the western connections of the New York Central and the Pennsylvania gained much of its present prominence by buying short lines in the vicinity of rivals and throwing them into bankruptcy, thus taking trade away.

nence by buying short lines in the vicinity of rivals and throwing them into bankruptcy, thus taking trade away.

"In Taking Bankkruff Roads.

"In fact, a short road, with small capital, was a constant menace to its more wealthy neignbors, and the great consolidations at present so common have been made to avoid this. People wonder why a rich road will buy at a high price one that never has and never can pay expenses. It is simply to prevent it from going into bankruptcy. A road in the hands of a receiver does not have to think either about dividends or interest on the bonded in debtedness, is not obliged to keep up the rolling stock, and as long as it earns enough to neet running expenses is all right. To put such a road in competition with a rival is a shrewd piece of generalship and the ease with which this would be done is at the bottom of the bad faith that has so generally characterized previous general agreements.

"Now, however, the case is entirely different. All roads are through lines and the effect of a bankrupt road cannot be confined to its nearest neighbor, but extends over the whole country. The consolidations made during recent years have killed the old fashioned spirit of rivalry, as no line is willing to ruln another, as it is well known that road interests under the present system are not antagonistic, but reciprocal, and no line can be brought into serious trouble without threatening the prosperity of every other road. That cuts and violations of agreements.

effectual means of stopping anything of the kind. For this reason the prospects are most favorable to a strict observance of the presi-dent's agreement, as any departure from it is likely to recoil with terrible force on the vio-lator. Every line is closely interested in the prosperity of every other, and therefore the subordinate officer will be held to a strict ob-servance of the law."

AN INTERESTING DUEL. Two Hot-Headed Virginia Dudes Exchange Forty-two Shots.

By Telegraph to the Post-DISPATCH. LEXINGTON, Va., March 9 .- A duel with pistols was fought here yesterday afternoon by two young society swells who up to a few hours of the duel were boon companions, fast hours of the duel were boon companions, fast friends and occupying the same suite of rooms. The reporter has learned the following facts in the case. Warwick C. White and H. Starkey, both popular and well-known young men, the Berry Walls of the Athens of Virginia, close friends and chums of the greatest intimacy, had a misunderstanding the evening previous as to a remark by the latter in connection with a friend of the former. The disparaging remarks of Starkey angered White and a heated dispute resulted, culminating in a personal agreement to fight a duel with pistols. Accordingly White selected Pete Williams as his second and Starkey named John Doss as his representative. The principals and seconds at once left town, and in a secluded place in the suburbs marked off thirty paces. The principals faced each other with Colts' 32-caliber seven-shot dueling pistols, and at the signal bogan firing. The pistols were emptied without result. Seven more shots were fired by each principal without effect. At this stage of the affair it began to look as in neither of the aggrieved youths could hit a block of barns. The pistols were charged for the third time. The last seven rounds were fired in rapid succession and when the smoka, cleared away is was found that one ball had passed through White's hat and the coat of Starkey showed a builet mark. Forty-two shots were fired in all. At the conclusion the principals stepped forward, shook hands and became friends. An Opal Story.

From the San Francisco Chronicle.

Good fortune goes with the opal. Last Christmas the wife of a well-known coffee broker made him a present of a scarfpin set with an opal. At the time he had a mortgage on his house; his business was in a desperate condition; he was 'threatened with paresis. Pretty soon coffee began to rise. It kept going up. He cleared a handsome sum, naid off the mortgage and had a substantial balance left. Some one slipped the pin out of his scarf one day in a crowd. The very next day he fell down stairs and broke two ribs; his wife upset a bottle of purple ink all over his new summer suit; his little boy played truant from school and got arrested for tying a package of firecrackers to a dog's tail; the parlor maid smashed the new chandelier; one of the horses developed glanders; the hired man upset a ladie of molten lead down his bootleg; the gas meter man brought in a bill of 787,000-feet for the months; the cook set the house on fire with a pan of melted grease, and moths got in the new parlor carpet. The owner was distracted and sent for two detectives. The opal was found the next day in a pawnshop. He recovered it just in time to get out of the coffee market just before the panlo. Talk about horseshoes and four-leaved clovers, they count for nothing in comparison to the luck in an opal.

From the Boston Herald. On the Boulevard Voltairs during the recent voting in Paris, and while electors buzzed like bees about the open door, two men approached, bearing a very small coffin, unattended. They set it down near the voting-room and while one of the bearers went inside to perform his electoral duties, the other remained in charge; he, in his turn, discharging his conscience of his vote. Then the two proceeded on their way to Pere-la-Chaise with their small burden. A kindly Paris journaist, touched by the sight of the lonely little coffin, walked with them, and found that the small occupant had been born on the previous morning, and had died on the same day. Its mother was too ill to follow her child to the grave, and the father had to attend in his own district to record his vote. The coffin was deposited in the "fesse commane" of the great cemetery, and a bunch of violets, laid upon it by the journaist, was the sale farewell greeting to earth's passing guest. The incident illustrates how strong political feeling is in France, overriding even the vivid sentiment for "ites morts" which has always been one of the salient characteristics of the nation. On the Boulevard Voltaire during the recent

From the Bangor Commercial.

A good story is told about one of the Maine Central engineers. Last summer when the Vanderbilt car was at Bar Harbor the manager of the Maine Central sent an engine down there to take the car to Portland. The run was made in very quick time, and at Brunswick the train stopped to take on water. While there Mr. Vanderbilt got out and said to the angineer that he didn't want him to drive so fast. The angineer, the veteran Simpson, looked at him a quarter of a minute and then said: "I am running this train under orders from Payson Tucker to be in Fortland at 1.07. If you want to stop here, all right. If you want to go to Portland get in." He got in.

noon, a young salesman, named Harry Mords, had almost certainly been destroyed in the flames. He was the son of Frederlok D. Mordt, who is employed at the Louisville Hotel, and lived with his father at Jeffersonville. He was 21 years old. A peculiarly sad feature of his case is that he was to be married to Miss Annie Rogers of Madison, Ind., in a few months. Young Mordt was in the habit of going to the basemens and eating the midday inncheon near the big furnace. Frequently, after finishing his dinner, he would lie down for a few minutes rest. The last seen of him yesterday was at about 1 o'clock, when one of the boys employed in the store says he saw him lying on one of the goods boxes in the basement, apparently asleep. It is doubtful if he ever awoke, and if he did it is supposed he was suffocated by the smoke and heat before he could give the alarm. Nothing has been heard of him this morning, and all hope that he may have escaped has been given up. It will be some time before a search can be made for his remains it, indeed, the fire has not entirely destroyed them.

St. Louis Lodge No. 1, United Order of Hope, will celebrate its eighth aniversary next Tuesday with a musical and literary entertainment at Mullanphy Hall, Broadway and Cass avenue. The Church of Perpetual Succor on College hill is now ready for the interior finish. When completed the edifice will cost $60,000. It will not be ready for service until June or later, and will be dedicated with much pomp.

The United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners will hold a mass-meeting to morrow night at the Social Turner Hall, Twentieth and Salisbury streets. W. H. Kliver, Vice-President of the United Brotherhood, will attend. Salisbury streets. W. H. Kiiver, Vice-President of the United Brotherhood, will attend.

Joseph Sternberg obtained a judgment against Ernest Voegler for $57.50 in Justice Harmon's court this morning on a suit upon an account of $75. It will be remembered that there is a case pending in the Criminal Court against Mr. Voegler, charging him with arson.

Casten Halltorf was summoned to appear in the Second District Police Court this morning in answer to the charge of cutting the mane and tail off, and otherwise mutilating the skin of a dead horse that was awaiting removal by the dead animal contractor. The summons had been issued on complaint of Michael Becker, the removing contractor, and the chief witness in the case was George Dozier, the driver of the dead animal wagon. Halltorf is a German and lives at No. 1208 Bayard avenue. He was probably ignorant of the existence of a statute in the city ordinances against the mutilation of the carcasses of animals. When Mr. Becker became acquainted with the facts in the case he at once tool measures to enlighten Mr. Halltorf in the matter. Mr. Halltorf evidently did not consider. Mr. Halltorf evidently did not considered the legal proceedings against him as being on an imperative nature, as he failed to appear in court this morning. He was fined $50 by default.

The decrease in the stock of wheat will probably be between 125,000 and 150,000 bu, and corn may show nearly 400,000 bu falling off.

Withdrawais of corn from store for past week for shipment were 1,128,500 bu, of which 90:,500 bu was by river and 161,000 bu by rail.

It is expected that the Government estimate of stocks of wheat in farmers' hands on March I will be received Monday.

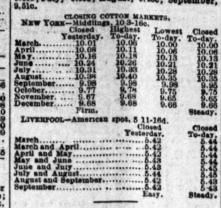

The movement of wheat from farmers' graneries in Minnesota and Dakota is materially less than a few days ago, says the Minneapolis Record. During the first half of February there was very little moving, but in the last half the movement was the largest of the winter. There is a large stretch of country in Minnesota, west of Minneapolis, extending from the Northwestern road on the south to the main line of the Northern Pacific on the north, where the bulk of the selling was done. It is expected that a larger area will be seeded to spring wheat than last year, owing to the remunerative prices received for the last crop, especially if the weather should permit it to go in early, reducing frost probabilities to the minimum.

New Orleans yesterday cleared 82,000 bu corn for Cork.

THE SPRING MEDICINE YOU WANT

WHAT IT IS.

Paine's Celery Compound is prepared from the prescription of a famous physician. It is entirely vegetable, composed of celery, inpulin, arsaparilla, mandrake, prickly ash, buchu, dandellon, and other herbs. These are chosen iandelion, and other herbs. These are chosen with special care, and their strength extracted by new methods. Like nothing else, in formula, manufacture, and curative power, Paine's Stimulates the Liver, Celery Compound is unequaled as an effective remedy for the diseased condition common to the spring months.

There's nothing like it.

Dull Market-Stocks Sold and Prices Ob-

The mining market was very dull this morn recorded, but prices were either stationary or

The following report was received from the Black Oak: North drift No. 1 level has passed the horse and advanced 12 feet. Face of drift is now in very favorable ground for ore, and we have a vein six inches wide, with good hanging and foot wall, which appears to be the point of an ore chute. North shaft has been advanced 10 feet, and, will soon be ready to receive the pumps. There has been no change in size or quality of vein in No. 2 stope. In No. 3 level the vein has improved since last report, and now averages ever three feet in width. The weather has moderated and both mine and mill are now running by water power. Number of tons of ore holsted during the week, 170.

On call the stock opened at 55, and at this price 300 shares were sold. Bidding then rose to 564, and 700 shares changed hands at this figure.

The report of the Concepcion was not received to day, and has not been received for two weeks. Mr. Williams, who visited the mine in the interest of the St. Louis stockholders, has reported that the expenses, under the present management, and in the present condition of the mine, exceed the receipts by over $2,000 a month, and that at least $20,000 must be subscribed by the shareholders to put the mine into proper condition. The stock was 12 asked, 11 bid.

The following report was received from the 'Frisco to-day: 'Drove west 24 feet on 550 foot level; drove east on 500 foot 23 feet. In west 550 everything run out, the vein pinching to a mere crevice. Should call it, considering the character of the foot and hanging walls, an indication of the approach of an ore body on the contact vein. In east 400 foot have 3 feet of ore running from eleven to thirty-five ounces. In west 400 winze we have some fine lead ore, and in west 200-foot we have sighteen inches of ore in a seven-foot vein. A telegram has been received by Secretary Kennett to the effect that the 550-foot level is looking better. The stock was 414 bid, offered at 43%.

The trading in West Granite was again at Phillips was one of the most active stock on the market and rose steadily. On call 43% was bid for the stock and 200 shares were disposed of at that figure. Bidding then rose to 46%, and after 200 shares had changed hands 47% was paid for an equal amount. The market closed with a sale of 100 shares at 45%, with this price bid for more.

I. X. L. was in fair demand, prices remaining unchanged. All sales were made at 7, at which figure over 1,800 shares were transferred and the stock was 8 bid.

At 8 there was a strong call for Mary Foster. Frederick Heuer over 4,500 shares bringing this price, which Emilie Tiemann.

was bid for more.

Anderson was 29½ bid, 23¼ asked; 100 Adams soid at 25; Dinero was 5½ bid, 8½ asked; $1.72½ was bid for Mountain Key; Carlboo was 8½ bid; 500 Silver Age sold at 32.75; Yuma Copper was 45½ bid; 51¼ asked; 20 was asked for Neath; 200 Gold King brought 42½; Bremen was offered at 51; Aztec was 41½ bid, 50 asked; 200 Pat Murphy brought 32½, closing at 35½ bid; 50 asked; 200 Pat Murphy brought 32½, closing at 35½ bid; 35 was asked for Wire Patch: Small Hopes was $1.02½ bid, $1.10 asked; 26¼ was asked for M. 1., 25¾ bid.

One of the largest sales of the year was consummated yesterday in the transfer of 30,000 shares of the stock of the Home State of Montana to James Campbell. The Home State is located about thirty-five miles from Helens, in what is known as the Jay Gould District. It is a gold mine, and has aiready produced large amounts of ore. Mr. Campbell, when questioned concerning the matter, declined either to admit or deny the sale. The price paid according to rumor was 30 cents a share.

No change was manifest in banking circles, discounts remaining steady at 608 per cent. New York Exchange 25 cents premium; clearances, $3,056,638; baiances, $566,602.
